KPA Shop Unveils a New Fiduciary-Friendly Tool

In light of the new fiduciary regulations, Redhawk Wealth Advisors, Inc. (Redhawk) introduces FiduciaryShield, a toolset that helps advisors to operate as a full fiduciary for their clients, allowing them to differentiate their offering and maneuver efficiently within the changing fiduciary sphere.

Through its ample knowledge acquired from its experience serving as an ERISA 3(38) investment manager for several qualified retirement plans throughout the nation, Redhawk felt it was imperative for it to spread the comprehensive fiduciary process it developed to the wealth management space, states Dan Hunt, CEO of Redhawk in the news release.

"We're already covered on the 401(k) side, and we wanted to be covered on the IRA side as well," Rick Keast, president at Redhawk, tells 401kWire.

The creation of this advisor-driven tool began a year ago when the firm knew the new DOL fiduciary rule was coming to be and has been reviewed and approved by one of the top ERISA attorneys in the nation, Marcia Wagner from The Wagner Law Group.

"Advisors can be comfortable knowing that if they use the process we've developed, they will be satisfying the DOL fiduciary rule," explains Keast.

Redhawk Wealth Advisors, Inc. is a Minnesota-based SEC RIA firm that provides wealth management, retirement plan, and practice management services to independent advisor representatives and their clients. It currently manages over $900M in client assets.
